Transit App - The Go-To For All Your Omni Trips

Omnitrans has partnered with the Transit app as the one-stop-shop for San Bernardino Valley transit riders' real-time bus tracking and trip planning needs! Transit, available for free download in the Apple and Google Play stores, counts millions of active users in more than 200 cities worldwide, including Southern California.

Omnitrans' bus riders can now see nearby route options and departure times in big text and bright colors. Transit app gives users the ability to easily navigate the San Bernardino Valley, aided by accurate real-time bus ETA's, trip planning, and step-by-step navigation with the Transit app GO feature (NexTrip will continue to be accessible via NextBus.com). Transit users are also requested to request and pay for Uber or Lyft rides within the app. Transit app offers an easy-to-use and widely adopted app for riders to navigate the whole region, and its transit systems, i.e., the Inland Empire, Los Angeles and Orange County. In addition, Omnitrans will also receive anonymized data and customizations to better serve the public, such as the ability to send important information directly to riders via the Transit app home screen.

Additionally, Transit app is working in partnership with Token Transit so that in the near future, Omnitrans riders can purchase mobile fares through the Transit app, as well as plan their trip and predict their bus arrival. Stay tuned for details!

The Omnitrans app, which launched in 2012, was phased out in November. Our website, Omnitrans.org, is optimized for viewing on mobile devices.

Step-by-step on how to use the app can be found online at Omnitrans.org.

Connecting and Moving Forward: Significant Changes Ahead

Maintaining and running a company is a challenge. The rising cost of maintaining a business in California is an even bigger challenge; whether you are a Fortune 500 company or a mom-and-pop business. As a public agency, Omnitrans faces the same challenges.

In order to meet those challenges, Omnitrans is proposing implementation of its ConnectForward service plan in September 2020 to prepare the agency for future regional transit needs and ensure long-term financial sustainability. The plan includes elements of route realignment, route elimination and the creation of new routes, and is designed to maximize efficiency while minimizing customer impact.

The proposed changes will be presented at a series of public hearings, January 13 - February 6, 2020, (at night) - this is the community’s chance to give opinions and feedback about the proposed changes, and Omnitrans service in general. More information and details about specific routes, cities and communities impacted cities and changes to the ADA service area will be provided before these public hearings, in a special ConnectForward - Guide To Proposed Service Changes. The guide will be made available online, December 30, at Omnitrans.org/ConnectForward and on the Omnitrans blog.
